

This Is Now My Heart

This is now my heart, In a world that's torn apart.
I keep searching for a spark I keep searching.
What you left for me is but a hollowed memory
Filled with love's debris I keep searching.

What is this pain I seem to hold.
My angry bear it took control.
Those lonely nights my heart it froze.

I got nowhere that I can go.
Could you take me back again.
Or dust me off and just be friends.
How does this lover's quarrel end.

Is this where you leave
A painted storm inside my head.
My favorite color, always red.
The loop it plays those words I said.
I think I'll put the bear to bed.

Steve Rice

9/14/18